How to complain

If you feel we have done something wrong or badly or have failed to do something, the first thing you should do is contact the relevant service or officer you have been dealing with. You should ask them to put things right for you or explain what went wrong.

If you remain dissatisfied with their response, you can submit an official complaint using the process outlined in this document.

A complaint is where you feel that there is a

- Failure by the Council or its employees to respond to a reported problem
- Failure to provide adequate standards of service
- Delay or failure to provide a service
- Dissatisfaction with an employee's behaviour or attitude

What is not considered a complaint

- Routine or day to day issues that can be easily resolved

- Reporting a problem or requesting a service first time
- A request for information or explanation of policies or procedures
- Cases where other rights of appeal exist such as refusal of planning permission

Who can make a complaint?

We accept complaints from residents, local businesses, visitors to the town, suppliers of services or any group or individual that uses or is affected by our services. We also accept complaints made on behalf of someone else, for example councillors, Members of Parliament (MPs) or representatives (for example a friend, relative or carer)

How we deal with complaints

We have a 2-stage process for handling complaints. This gives complainants the opportunity to have their complaint reviewed if they are not satisfied with our initial response.

Stage 1

So that we can fully investigate, you should submit your complaint via the form below providing as much information as you can, including dates, times, any officer name(s), etc. Your complaint will be acknowledged within 5 days and will be forwarded to an officer or councillor that deals with the service regards which the complaint is about. The matter will be investigated by someone other than who has already been involved and we will aim to provide you with the outcome of this investigation within 4 weeks of receiving your complaint. If longer is needed to complete our investigation, we will notify you of this and a date that we will respond to you by. Where appropriate, your complaint may be reviewed by an officer or other councillor.

Stage 2

If you disagree with our response, you may submit an appeal via our form below. You must provide the original complaint reference provided to you at Stage 1, otherwise the complaint will be considered as a new complaint and will be handled accordingly. You will receive acknowledgement of your request within 5 days, the Stage 1 investigation and response will be reviewed by a member of our staff and the outcome of the review will be sent to you within 4 weeks of receiving your appeal. If more time is needed to complete the review, we will write to you to advise you of this and a date that we will respond to you by.

What you can expect to receive from us

In every instance, you can expect our response to follow our Customer Service Standards. Additionally, you may receive one or more of the following:

- An apology
- An explanation of why the Council handled the matter the way it did
- An explanation of what went wrong
- Remedial action, such as how we will provide the service
- A commitment to how we will try to prevent the same thing happening again

Local government & Social Care Ombudsman

If, having followed both stages of our complaint process, you are still not satisfied with our response or you are not happy with the way we have handled your complaint, you can contact the Local Government & Social Care Ombudsman.

This is a free service that anyone can use and provides a final stage of investigation into complaints made about councils. They can provide information about next steps and whether they can or should investigate on your behalf.

You can ask for a further review if you:

- are not happy with the way we have handled your complaint
- are not satisfied with our response to your complaint

Please note that you must contact them yourself if you want to refer your complaint and they will advise you to follow our complaint process in the first instance.

Unreasonably persistent complaints

Where customers place unreasonable demands on our service by submitting multiple, frequent or lengthy contacts, experience shows that these can take up unnecessary resources and taxpayer funds and can impact upon our ability to deliver services.

In cases where we consider someone's behaviour to be unreasonable, we will explain why and ask them to change it. We may also take action about or apply restrictions to the way we communicate with them. If action is taken, it will be in place for a minimum of six months after which time it can be removed by contacting the Council's Monitoring Officer.

Offensive or abusive behaviour

We do not expect our staff to put up with abusive or offensive behaviour and they may report events in which they feel they have been verbally abused, threatened or assaulted. This includes intimidating behaviour, harassment, sexual threats and threats to others or to property.
